EHS Staff Over-Whelmed and Over-Worked

Originally written: May 2, 2016 · Published here: May 13, 2026

Many EHS personnel are over-whelmed and over-worked at the moment. One manager I recently heard about is now attempting to track and comply with over 50,000 requirements. Budgets are down. Rules are growing in number, size, and complexity.

Unburdening the Load

The AL Law Group is placing the burdens of its clients on its own shoulders.

We are unleashing the power of simplicity.

“The U.S. environmental legal system is the most complicated legal system in human history.” “We see this as opportunity. Opportunity to unleash the power of simplicity—to improve our client’s lives, decrease cost burdens, and allow companies to reinvest in more productive environmental improvement efforts.”
