Remote Environmental Management

April 16, 2020

See down to the “equipment” level!

“Unprecedented …”

Ceres AI to provide customers “never seen before” access to facility environmental data at the equipment level.

---“This will give environmental managers a tool to further manage their facilities virtually from their desktops—digitalizing and automating more workflows and information gathering/analysis tasks with leading-edge artificial intelligence.”---Jed Anderson, Creator, Ceres AI

“AI Earth” will allow users to focus down to the equipment level to see particular emissions or discharge points—and the associated permitting, agency documents, and compliance data related to those points. AI will also be use to search for relational data to provide users with new intelligence insights.

POWER BEYOND DREAMS TO SIMPLIFY ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION & COMPLIANCE
